

'Narrow-minded' writers

As a regular reader of Your View, I shake my head with disbelief at some of the stones hurled at our elected officials by often narrow-minded writers.

It's a shame to read Gary Somerville's tirade (August 28) belittling the outstanding achievements of Cr Gary Green when Somerville's only claim to fame is being a critic. Cr Green's enthusiasm and ideas will be sorely missed.

Hanspeter Hager
Brighten-Le-Sands