

Forest for the trees

Brian Shaw (Your View, October, 12) should note that several pine trees in Cook Park collapsed during a storm in 1966, according to Harold Lenertz (Leader, October 10).

Brian could go to any public library and discover that he also misquoted Alfred Lord Tennyson's Charge of the Light Brigade.

"Forward, forward, forward" was not called, but "Forward, the Light Brigade!"

Is it the case that some people just can't see the forest for all the trees?
